Reports

V.P., Charlene Novakovich, reminded all members that we pay our dues for a reason—to receive member benefits. She admonished our president for being too nice and helping those who were not members. She encouraged all building representatives to keep in mind who is a member and who is a potential member. Members get support, advice and assistance with issues. Those who are not currently members have not paid their dues for that privilege. If a potential member seeks your help, remind them that it is a member-benefit, and would be happy to assist them if they would like to join to receive these benefits. Otherwise, we cannot provide support, advice, or assistance to them.

Prairie Creek Elizabeth reported that testing is going well. She also reported that some of the PCES students took science projects to the KC Science Fair at Union Station, and some of them won some awards! She also said that Kindergarten roundup provided a large turnout this year. Finally, the chickens are about to hatch—everyone is on chick watch. Elizabeth goes in frequently on the weekends to check on them. Due date for hatching is next week. When asked if the students knew how much work was going into taking care of them for hatching, she said, “Yes, they have been involved in the whole process and have taken part.”

E.S. Janet concurred with all the items that were happening at P.C.E.S. were also happening at E.S. However, she said they did not have that many students turn out for Kindergarten round up.

I.S. Helen is enamored with her chickens. Her eyes sparkled and she grinned when telling us all about the chicken hatching process at the I.S.

M.S. Christy indicated that Reading and Math Assessments were complete and writing would begin next week. School Play and Track practices are in full swing. The Book Fair is also next week.

H.S. Elaine reported that spring sports and extra curricular activities have started. The reading scores look great and the math scores are yet to be determined.
